So Firefly Solar (Kuby Electric) just quoted me 15k for a ~4 kW system (yearly output slightly over 4,000 kWh). That comes out as 3.6 $/kWh ~ 3.85 $/W before the Greener Homes Grant. I see a bunch of posts from a year ago on this sub about 3 $/kWh being on the pricier side and some even getting solar for under that back then. So what gives?

Firefly Electric is an awesome company, and I would 100% use them again for future projects. Chad compelted the work at our house and he was very helpful. He explained everything he was doing and provided a nice overview of our lighting options. Chad's installation of the recessed lights were awesome too.
